But nearly one-third of the session was through and daylight was not yet visible. There were before the Sonate measures of vast importance that would fail for another year at least unless now acted upon. He mentioned the Silver Bill, the Apportionment, Purs Food, Copyright and Private Land Court bills. But it was not only because these measures were elamoring for recognition that he felt compelled to oppose the Elections Bill. If the session were to last indefinitely, and none of these vital measures were pending, he would still ever the session were to last involved Federal interference and espionage at other than national elections, and such interference was an econtrary to the spirit of American institutions and an obstacle to the free enjoyment of the American people of their rights. Mr. Hoar replied sharply that the bill would have been six months ago disposed of if his counsel had been six months ago disposed of if his counsel had been six months ago and aylight was not yet visible. There were before the Sonate measures of vast importance that would fail for another year at least unless now acted upon. He mentioned the Silver Bill, the Apportionment, Pure Food, Copyright and Private Land Court bills. But it was not only because these measures were clamoring for recognition that he felt compelled to oppose the Elections Bill. If the session were to last indefinitely, and none of these vital measures were pending, he would still vote against it. The pending bill should not become a law because it involved Federai interference and espicious at other than national elections, and such interference was contrary to the spirit of American institutions and an obstacle to the free anjoyment of the American people of their rights.

Mr. Hoar replied sharply that the bill wounds had been followed.

Mr. Hawley said that he was for anything short of absolute despottsm to get a vote on the bill whenever a majority of the Senate thinks it is redy to vote—cloture or no cloture.

Mr. Teller replied that the minority has a right to object, to debate and anything short of because these measures were pending, he would still vote against it. The pending bill should not become a law because the majority of the Senate thinks it is greatly to vote—cloture or no cloture.

Mr. Hear replied sharply that the bill whenever a majorit would have been as a more and them and the was for another the minority has a right to object, to debate and another the minority was in close to run. He (Mr. Teller) was in favor of the majority ruling, but he knew that there is nothing more despotic than the tyrannical action of a majority. The minority is a subsolutely indispensable to the preservation of liberty in any country. The minority is an inearly 100 warriors. Before leaving the most of the character of the majority that the bil possible to enforce such a law against the united opposition of the white population of the Southern States. The attempt would bring back the old The attempt would bring back the old days of terrorizing, and the weaker race weuld be the sufferers. There were other things more important and vital to the welfare of the nation than that colored citizens of the South should cast ballots. Referring to the question put by Mr. Eustice to Mr. Dolph recently, as to what the people of Oregon would do under similar circumstances if Chinese voters were in the majority, Mr. Wolcott said Dolph's answer seemed evasive. He (Wolcott) could not speak for Oregon, but he gave it as his solemn opinion that in Colorado, if such a state of affairs existed and the Chinese vote was opposed to the united and intelligent white vote, the white vote, in some way and by some method, would govern. [Democratic approval.]

white vote, the white vote, in some way and by some method, would govern. [Democratic approval.]

If Congress did not foment trouble, the time would surely come when the white voters of the South would be hardly as unanimous as now. The signs of the times pointed to serious differences among them, and when those differences became soliditied, the colored voter would be in demand. If the Republicaus had every southern member of the next house, they would still be short of a majority. Two years from now, when the beneficent tariff law had time to demonstrate its wisdom, they would not need the assistance of Southern Republican representation which the bill sought to give.

But there was another and weightier reason why it should be defeared. For a quarter of a century, out of poverty and despair, the South had been reaching forth in an effort to plant its foot on the solid rock of material prosperity; in view of the marvelous growth and transformation now taking place in the Southern States, it would be unwise and unpatriotic for Congress to interfere in the conduct of its internal affairs. Rejoicing in the prosperity of every section of the common country, he (Wolcott) was quaviling to thrust with his vote on that people at this time a measure which seemed to them but a renewal of strife and bitterness, which was foreign to the spirit and dangerous to the freedom of Republican institutions. [General applause in the galleries and on the Democratic side,]

Democratic side,]
The Election & II was then laid aside informally and the Financial Bill taken up. Mr. Stewart addressed the Senate briefly. The purpose of the bill, he said, was to purchase the 12,000,000 of ounces of silver new held by speculators, and to issue $500,000,000 of bonds to be held as a bis of the national bank circulation.

for the relief of gambiers, silver speculators and the national banks.

"Such a purchase of silver would temporarily increase its price," Mr. Stewart said, "and thereby, to some extent, benefit some of my conati uponts. But they are not asking for benefit at any such price. They prefer to bide their time and wait until there are enough votes in Congress to enact into a law the free and unlimited coinage of silver."

He has seen the entire Republican side of the chamber retire when there was a Democratic majority, because they were resisting what they believed to be an improper measure. The President Will Investigate the Murder of Matthews. WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—By the Associated Press. | President Harrison, with the assistance of Postmaster-General Wanamaker, is making an investigation into the recent killing of Postmaster Matthews at Carrollton, Miss. Senator George today received a letter from a Baptist minister at Carrollton, saying that the killing was the result of a personal difficulty, and politics did not enter into the case.

PROSPECTS OF THE LODGE BILL. There was considerable discussion among the members of the House today regarding the Elections Bill. One prominent Republican says that he does not think it will pass the Senate. but if it should it cannot get through the House unless there is a Republi-can quorum, which is almost impossi-ble to secure at the present session. CHINESE KINDERGARTEN.

Interesting Entertainment at the First Presbyterian Church. The Chinese Kindergarten gave an entertainment last evening under the auspices of Mrs. Martin, the teacher, in the First Presbyterian Church, at Second and Broadway. The entertainment, consisting of songe by little Chinese children and Chinese men and women was very entert thing.

Ten Chinese children took part. They were Ella Lee, Etta Lee, Charley Sing, Anna Sing, Manel Sing, Clara Sing, Freddie Talmus, Fong Hey and Yung Hey.

Duets and trios were excellently rendered also by a number of the Chinese present. It was ested that the kindergarten was inaugurated a year ago by Mrs. Condet, the Chinese missionary, and at that time five children were in attendance. A year ago in me of the children could read English, now thirteen have been tanght to read and write. It was also stawd that it cost $260 per year to maintain the kindergarten, and that it was necessary to raise money at once to continue it. Over $200 was subscribed during the entertainment.

Where You Find the Heart There You Find the Turquois Silppers, Necklaces and Fans.

NEW YORK, Dec, 23.—[Special Correspondence of The Times.] The anclent Christmas festival, with its brilliant gatherings, brought out a great variety of mid-winter robes. These were noticeably bright in color, to harmonize with the season of gayety and joy, and one in every three might be remarked upon for its long sweep of outline and its graceful, gradual curves. The tendency to lengthen skirts becomes more marked, even in dancing gowns. The newest models have an odd dip in the back that is not precisely ungraceful, and does not interfere decidedly with exercise on the ball room floor, but the disinterested spectator funcies she begins to notice in the eyes of a fair lady's partner a cer tain nervous anxiety, as if his mind connected intimately his feet and that fluttering immature train. The smartest frocks at a pretty dance on Christmas eve had rather scant draperies, to which wide, slightly gathered flounces or small chiffon pouls gave effects in some instances that were chie and peculiar. Long gauze or lace sleeves were distinctive features, often elaborated in strange and exaggerated styles. Pale lilac chiffon with garnitures of golden buttercups, corn yellow mousseline de soie with trimmings of purple pansies, pale rose tulle dotted with pearlsies, pale rose tulle dotted with pearllike anemones, turquoise blue crépe de

About Death Valley.

[Inyo Independent.]

The difficulty of making an exploration of Death Valley is not nearly so great as was formerly imagined. Pargreat as was formerly imagined. Parties from Independence have been in Death Valley several times this year. There is no trouble about finding plenty of good water. There are springs among the mountains that bound the valley and mining prospectors who know the country are familiar with most of them. Recently it is reported that one or more fine artesian wells have been bored in the valley. From Independence to Death Valley is about one hundred and twenty-five miles. The road is good and the water and camping stations at convenient discamping stations at convenient dis-tances. For years past many men have been employed in the valley tak-ing out borax.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL

Reference has already been made in these columns to the most interesting and encouraging report made by Division Engineer Frank P. Davis, of the Nicaragua Canal Construction Company, to Chief Engineer Menocal, dated October 19, 1890, detailing the surveying and construction work performed in the field prior to that date. The following synopsis is now presented to readers of THE TIMES:

The surveys for the final location of the entire canal line have been completed, and the detail surveys of the sites of all embankments, dams, and locks, are very nearly finished.

In addition to actual surveys the whole country has been thoroughly explored, so that every range of hills, and every small stream has been examined ascertain what, if any, bearing it might have upon the general problem of construction.

The surveys for a railroad line from America to Ochoa, keeping above the flowage line in the basin, have been completed.

It was a difficult piece of location, as the hills bordering the basin are very steep, and badly cut up with latera

Careful detail surveys have been made for the location of a dam and a reservoir on the La Paz Creek, about twelve miles from this place; also for the pipe line to bring the water from that point to America.

All things being considered the La Paz was found to be the most desirable.

The stream in the dry season will furnish a supply of pure cold water, amply sufficient for all the demands ikely to be made upon it.

A careful survey is now in progress and nearly completed, of the country between the mouth of the Lajas and Brito for the location of a railro d. to accurately locate all the property lines, to decide where diversions of stream are necessary and practicable, and to locate sites for disposing of waste material. These surveys have necessarily been slow and expensive, being prose cuted in a tropical forest where nothing could be seen at a distance of fifty feet, and where every step had to be preceded by a blow from a matchet, to clear away the tangled mass of vines which everywhere presented itself; where all supplies had to be transported in canoes up streams filted with logs, and then packed on men's backs for miles over hills so steep that a man can only climb up and down by holding on the small trees and brush, much of the time with the rain pouring in torrents; or through swamps where for long distances men have had to flounder through thick mud from their waists to their arm pits in depth,

At first it was attempted to house the engineering party in tents, but experience soon showed that they would not answer in this climate, and they were abandoned, the parties living in shacks, thatched by palfn leaves.

To ascertain beyond question what he character and cost of the work was to be, borings have been made at the site of all important works, such as dams, embaukments and locks, as well as the heavy cuts. Owing to the difficulties in trans-porting heavy machinery, steam drills were impracticable, so all this work had to be done by hand.

A steam snag boat was put to work clearing the streams-up which supplies must be taken-of logs and overhanging trees. These streams were filled with logs, the accumulations of ages, many of which were buried in sand and as heavy as lead. They could only be removed by the assistance of divers and a liberal use of dynamite.

The necessity for a telegraph line to the interior soon became apparent. This was one of the first works undertaken and was pushed through to Castillo, a distance of sixty miles as soon as possible. This was a difficult line o construct, as the first ten miles was through the deep swamp back of San Juan, where the wire and all other supplies had to be carried on the backs of men, who were wading in water from one to four feet deep. Much of the way the water was so deep that the poles could not be set in the ground and had to be fastened to stumps with wire as the only means of securing them. From the Divide to the Cas tillo, the line is over a very rough country, was an expensive line to construct and is a difficult line to main-

During the summer of 1889 some pre paratory work was done at Silico Lake and quite a sum of money expended in building a crib and a sheet-pile wharf. No active work on the excavation of rock was done until July 1890, when a force of men was put to work, and all the rocks which have been used at the breakwater quarried. During the summer of 1889 permanent buildings were begun and building construction has been in progress ever since. (A detailed list of buildings erected, some forty in number, is given.

Work in the caual clearing was be gun in January, 1890, and about eleven miles chopped the full width of 486 feet; a large part of this was burned during the dry weather of April. The hing is an improvement which ends a chopping through the swamp was done in January, when there was a rainfall of sixty-four inches, and the water was very deep in the swamp.

As all the water in the vicinity San Juan del Norte is contaminated by decaying vegetable matter, it was decided to seek a pure supply in the highest hills back of the swamp.

After a careful examination of several sources the Caño La Paz was finally selected as a point for a dam. The dam will be fifteen feet in height and will raise the water in the reservoir 115 feet above tide,

The water will be brought to this point in a steel pips eight inches in diameter. All of the materials are thern Pacific Company that here, including gates, sluices, screens, bara has secured the sum valves, connections, etc., and fifteen prevails here during several months of financiers of honesty and acumen the year, without even stopping on account of the weather, and without an accident of any kind or the loss of life. A contract for clearing the right-of-way from Lake Nicarauga to the Pacific has been let, and work will soon begin on this portion. A large amount of supplies, tools and machinery, consisting of steam boilers, rock drills, hoisting engines, railway appliances of all kinds, etc., are now on and and ready for work. On the subject of the care of em-ployes and other matters, the engineer ployés and other matters, the engineer says:

All the employés, both officers and laborers, are housed and fed by the company. It would undoubtedly seem to be cheaper not to do this, but laborers would not receive as good food nor as comfortable lodging, and sickness would be the result. At an early date an excellent hospital was established, where all the company's employés are treated free of cost. This, in connection with the care taken of the employés, has kept the sick list down to a point which would be considered excellent in any climate. The death rate among laborers has been remarkably small, and there has not been a death among the officers from sickness.

In times past it was no uncommon thing for vessels laden with only ordinary packages of merchandies to leave here without disch rging their cargoes, on account of the unprotected anchorage. We have been compelled to unload locomotives, steam shovels, pile-drivers, railroad cars, etc., in pack ges weighing as high as fifteen tous, receiving them on board lighters in an entirely unprotected sea, two miles from land, and bringing them ashore, where they have been taken from the lighters and set up without the aid of powerful derricks, such as are commonly used for such work.

The country along our line was entirely without highways or any other means of communiquation. From the small settlement of San Juan del Norte to Ocnoa, the country was an unknown and uninhabited widerness. The company has gone to work in an unostentations, systematic manner to accomplish the great work before them, and may well take pride in what has been accomplished.

If this thing keeps on we may expect to see the land dotted with factories dealing in specialties such as "crystalized billious attacks," "Bacitli of tuberculosis in glass jars," "Canned gout, pints and quarts," and the many other ailments which flesh seems to have a hankering after.

A great warehouse business would be a necessary auxiliary of this sort of commerce, and signs on the roofs of big buildings reading, "Store-room for canned corns," Warehouse for pickled on suspicion of being George Brooks, sore eyes," "Storage for extract of diseased liver," etc., etc., would be quite as common as those we now see relating to the housing of hides, wool and the other products of the country. and the other products of the country. It's a great period, sure, and the man who does not rejoice that he is living in this age of Koch, who dries up bacilli, and the other fellows who extrac and can the other little jiggers, must be mighty hard to get along with For our part, this thing of corraling earache and putting a lid on it, and bottling the bacteria of poisor oak and corking it up, makes us feel very gay indeed, for we foresee the en a man with a backache can send out to his doctor and get a vial of lymph an a hypodermic syringe tha vill start him along again as fresh as a Frisco dude; or when he can have a rheumatic twinge extracted and placed in a small glass jar on a shelf, where he can sit and make faces at it. We know oceans of people that would enjoy that sort of an entertainment better than four nights of Juch opera. LARGE CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

Last night the new High School building was dedicated under the auspices of the Los Angeles High School Alumni Society. The new building, which was designed by Architect J. N. Preston, who has superintended its construction from the first, is one of the most complete school buildings in Southern California. It is a solid structure and will stand as a monument to the builder for years to come. All of the latest improvements have been put in, and every room is complete.

The following, are the officers of the Alemni Society:

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The stock market today experienced a complete change in temper, and under persistent bear hammering finally closed almost invariably lower than last evening, notwithstanding that the general outlook ws. if anything, improved, and the money market rather easier than yesterday. Sugar is down 3%, Missouri Pacific 136, Uoion Pacific 136, and others smaller amounts. Owing to the railroad complications over the Omaha bridge, the opening of the market this morning shewed a rather reactionary temper. First prices were irregular, % to % lower. Fractional concessions from these figures followed in many leading shares, but the strength and activity last evening soon restrength and activity last evening soon re-asserted themselves, and most everything was placed on a higher level than the openwas placed on a higher level than the openng. Sugar Certificates, however, were weak, and after opening at 50% against 60% last evening, fell to 58%, recovering only a fraction. The strong tone remained till the end of the hour. At 11 o'cock the market was fairly active and strong at the best prices reached. After 11 o'clock there was but little further progress made in the upward direction, and prices soon began to give way. Everything retired fractionally before noon. The only feature was the renewed weakness of Sugar Certificates, which fell away from 50% to 58. The market at noon was quiet and barely steady, but still at small fractions better than the opening. Sugar at 36%, its lowest point, was 3% below the best price of the forenoon. Union Pacific showed marked weakness. The close was dull and heavy at boltom prices.

Government bonds were dull. NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS. In the quotations below, where two sets of figures appear, thus; "Central Pacific, 34-3414," the first figures refer to the noon quotations, and the last to the closing quo

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30, [Special to THE TIMES.] Trading is generally quiet in consequence of the closing of the year and the intervening holiday. The market for butter and eggs is quiet. Eastern butter is a little weaker, there being a great stock on hand. The provision line remains about the same. The grain markets were generally quiet this morning, and there are few changes to note in the quotations. Spot wheat appeared to be a triffe easier for shipping grades. Offerings continued free, but the demand was not pressing. Bariey was steady, demand moderate; oats, corn and other cereals unchanged.

THE COURTS.

The McNally-Hutchinson Contest Still On.

THE PROCEEDINGS YESTERDAY

Hawthorne Released on Habeas Corpus, but Afterward Rearrested-A Peculiar State of Affairs.

The recount of the ballots in the McNally-Hutchinson contest to determine who is the legaliy-elected Superintendent Streets went merrily on before Superior Judge McKinley in Department Five yes-terday. From 10 o'clock a. m. until 5 p. m. was devoted to tallying the ballots for a ond time, barring an hour's intermission for lunch.

All told, eighteen precincts were counted.

second time, barring an hour's intermission for lunch.

All told, eighteen precincts were counted. The Seventh ward was reached. All that remains to be done now is to count the remainder of this ward and the Eighth and Ninth wards.

The result of yesterday's work was ward.

The confection in the Markey of the confections while Mr. McNally has lost 2.

M. E. C. Munday, Esq., counsel for the confections were steadily and regularly overrused by the confection were steadily and regularly overrused by the court, to which ruling Mr. Munday excepted.

But after the votes in the Sixth Ward had been called off, T. K. Wilson, counsel for Mr. Hutchinson, objected to all of the regular Democratic baliots in this ward being counted on the ground that the Size of the type used in printing the names of the various offices to be balloted for was not in compliance with the statute.

Mr. Munday, for the contestant, also made a similar objection, but the court overruled both objections and both counsel excepted. If the b. liots in the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Wards are printed the same as those in this Sixth Ward objection will be made to any of them being counted. This may cause immediate complications.

The results brought out by the recount of yesterday in detail are as follows:

Mr. Hutchinson gained votes in the various precincts as follows: In the Seventh Precinct, 1; in the Thirty-eighth Precinct, 1; in the Thirty-ourth Precinct, 1; in the Twenty-sixth Precinct, 1; in the Thir ous case of Charles Hawthorne came up in pus case of Charles Hawthorne came up in Department One of the Superior Court. After hearing all of the testimony in the case Judge Cheney directed that Hawthorne be released and that the following order be entered upon the court records:

"It appearing to the court that Charles Hawthorne, the petitioner has been under arrest three Saturday, the 27th lust, and that there is no complaint filed against him, it is ordered that he be discharded from custody."

arrest once Saturday, the 27th inst, and that there is no complaint flied a rainst him, it is ordered that he be dischard of from custody."

But it seems that Mr. Hawtheyne was not long to remain at liberty, for it the afternoon he was arrested upon a warrant from the United States Court by Deputy United States Marshal Tarble. The charge preferred against him was that of committing an assault upon C. W. Floyd, a postofice employé at Station A, in East Los Angeles on Saturday last with intent to rob the United States mail.

Hawthorne was taken before United States Commissioner Van Dyke and arraigned. His bail was fixed at $500.

From the above statement it will be seen that the case is a peculiar one, but there is more in it than appears on the surface, and illustrates how it is possible for a man to be guilty of a crime and yet escape punishment. Hawthorne, it is alleged, assaulted the clerk in charge of the East Side branch postoffice, a young man named Floyd, last Saturday afternoon, drawing a revolver, and intumating that he was desperate and must have money, but that the entrance of a couple of men put a stop to further proceedings on Hawthorne's part, when Floyd drew his own revolver and chased him out of the office. Floyd thought that Hawthorne intended to rob the office, and so reported to the police authorities on the Fast Side. A search was instituted, Hawthorne was captured and was sent to the Central station. Shortly after his incarceration a Deputy United States Marshal called at the station and instructed the authorities to hold the prisoner, and that a complaint would be unde. No complaint was made during Sunday, and Monday Hawthorne was taken before Judge Cheney on a writy of habeas corpus on the ground that no complaint had been filed, and that there was no charge pending against him. Judge Cheney continued the meantime, however, United States District Attorney's office was applied to, but the United States and to over the case, and the county officials had no jurisdiction, Matters were in this

Waiter Newell was charged with burglary. But as it was plainly evident that the charge could not be proven, it was withdrawn and one, of petty larceny substituted. He will be tried later on.

Joe B rker and Chris Campo were both arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. Barker was the complaining witness against Campo and Campo was likewise the complaining witness against Barker.

It seems that these two parties became involved in a row. In the mé & Barker was shot in the leg. He claims that Campo shot him. On the other hand, Campo alleges that Barker drew a revolver to kill him, but that he dropped it and it went off, the ball lodging in his (Barker's) leg.

The examination of Campo was concluded yesterday, and his case was taken under advisement by the justice.

The rather sensational case of W. H. Holmes vs. A. J. Vinton, a civil suit for $300, in the course of which it came out that J. S. Chadwick, a material witness in the Damron forgery cases, who disappeared just at the time when he was most wanted, had been hiding in the city, was concluded before Justice Austin yesterday morning. The only point of interest was the testimony of J. M. Damron, who admitted on the stand that he had taken Vinton to see Chadwick. On the conclusion of the testi-THE HOLMES-VINTON SUIT
